URBAN STRUCTURE

Architecture asks for discipline before mood.

Use this when an architectural image looks strong but slightly careless. The checklist catches perspective, edge, and material problems before mood takes over.

01	Verticals	Do they feel chosen?
02	Edges	Are corners clean?
03	Scale	Is the building readable?
04	Material	Does texture still belong?
05	Mood	Is drama supporting form?

Quick reminder

Mood cannot hide careless structure.

Final check

Correct enough for intention, not so much that the scene becomes sterile.
